Civil Action No. 7:05-cv-00706

MEMORANDUM OPINION

By: Hon. James C. Turk
Senior United States District Judge

Plaintiff Joseph Bowler, a Virginia inmate acting pro se, submits several handwritten documents that the court construes as a civil rights complaint, pursuant to 42 U.S.C. §1983.¹ Bowler lists numerous officers at Red Onion State Prison (ROSP), alleging that in the past, they have physically assaulted him and threatened his life, that they have destroyed his personal property during shakedowns, and that they have refused him medical treatment for unidentified medical problems. Bowler seeks monetary damages. Upon review of the record, the court concludes that Bowler's complaint must be filed for administrative purposes only and immediately dismissed without prejudice, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §1915(g).

Bowler has not prepaid the $250.00 filing fee required in civil actions and apparently seeks to proceed in forma pauperis. Court records indicate that Bowler has filed at least three prior civil actions, in forma pauperis, that were dismissed as malicious, frivolous, or for failure to state a claim: Bowler v. Braxton, 7:03-cv-00652 (W.D. Va. December 3, 2003)(dismissed under §1915A, failure to state a claim); Bowler v. Young, 7:03-cv-00231 (W.D. Va. April 7, 2003)(dismissed without prejudice under 28 U.S.C. §1915A(b)(1) for failure to state a claim); Bowler v. Young, 7:03-cv-00148 (W.D. Va. March 6, 2003) (dismissed without prejudice under 28 U.S.C. §1915A(b)(1) for failure to state a claim). Therefore, under 28 U.S.C. §1915(g), he is barred from filing a civil action in forma pauperis in this court unless he demonstrates that he is in imminent danger of physical harm related to his claims.

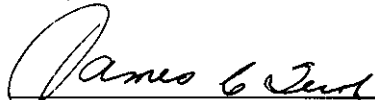

¹Bowler has filed numerous complaints under § 1983, all of which are closed at this time.

A prisoner may invoke the imminent danger exception to the §1915(g) “three strikes” provision only to seek relief from a danger which is imminent at the time the complaint is filed. Abdul-Akbar v. McKelvie, 239 F.3d 307, 314 (3d Cir. 2001); Banos v. O’Guin, 144 F.3d 883, 884 (5th Cir. 1998). In order to qualify for the imminent danger exception, the prisoner must at least raise a credible allegation that he is in imminent danger of serious physical harm. White v. State of Colorado, 157 F.3d 1232 (10th Cir. 1998). Allegations that the inmate has faced danger or suffered harm in the past are insufficient to trigger the §1915(g) exception. See Abdul-Akbar, 239 F.3d 307 (being sprayed once with pepper spray not imminent danger).

Bowler’s allegations in his current complaint do not raise a credible allegation that he is currently in imminent danger of suffering physical harm related to any of his vague allegations against the named defendants in this action. His complaints concern past events, and Bowler does not allege facts indicating any likelihood that similar events will happen to him in the future. Thus, Bowler fails to allege facts sufficient to satisfy the “imminent danger” requirement for in forma pauperis under §1915(g). Therefore, the court will deny Bowler’s request to proceed in forma pauperis.² As Bowler is well aware of his three strikes and the requirement that he prepay the fee or otherwise satisfy §1915(g), the court will dismiss this action without prejudice. An appropriate order shall be issued this day.

The Clerk is directed to send certified copies of this memorandum opinion and the accompanying order to plaintiff.

²Moreover, Bowler fails to allege facts or present documentation indicating that he exhausted his administrative remedies as required under 42 U.S.C. § 1997e(a) as to each of his claims.
